Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

The third oldest in the Marines at Paris Island writes that he outshot everyone in his 70 man platoon while on the rifle range last week. Says he hit 230 out of a possible 250 points.

This got him an expert rifleman's badge and a trophy he says is 15 inches high.

We told him when he left that if he was going to be a United States Marine to be the best one he could.

We don't like to do anything half way. Either do it all the way or forget the whole thing.

Second oldest in Viet Nam writes for a mascot. Says he needs it during the monsoon season. We sent him one but wondered why in the heck the Air Force didn't furnish it.

During World War II we were furnished everything that was needed to fight the war.

Maybe with the new policy of hitting everything in North Viet (Continued On Page Six)

Dr. Forrest Pogue Will Speak At Library; Two Are Honored

Two new buildings, erected at a combined cost of almost $1 million, will be dedicated Thursday and Sunday at Murray State University.

Gov. Edward T. Breathitt will be the speaker at 3 p.m. Thursday, April 27, at ceremonies marking the opening of a $100,000 livestock pavilion at the university farm. A farm machinery and equipment show is scheduled throughout the day as part of dedication activities. Ten manufacturers will have displays.

Dr. Forrest Pogue, director of the George C. Marshall Research Center near Washington and a former MSU history professor, will speak Sunday, April 30, at the dedication of an $838,000 addition to the MSU library. The program will be in the university auditorium beginning at 4 p.m. Central Daylight Time.

Early last week the university's board of regents voted to name the new facilities after two long-time MSU professors.

The pavilion will bear the name of A. Carman, who was head of the agriculture department from 1936 until his retirement in 1959. The library annex will honor Dr. C. S. Lowry, head of the social science department. Dr. Lowry has been a member of the faculty for 42 years and chairman of the library committee for more than 25 years.

Manuel Vinson, assistant commissioner of agriculture in Kentucky, will preside during the program at the pavilion. Felix Joyner, commissioner of finance, will present the building to MSU President Ralph H. Woods.

The new pavilion is 222 feet long, 67 feet wide and will seat about 350. It will be used for agricultural class and laboratory work and research projects as well as a site for special events.

The first of these events comes up Friday, April 28, with the agriculture department's annual high school field day. Seven hundred high school boys from 22 west Kentucky counties have been invited to participate. Each school will be allowed to enter 15 boys in various contests, according to a department spokesman.

Dr. Woods will preside at the library dedication. Dr. Harry M. Sparks, state superintendent of public instruction, will accept the building from the architects, and Ambrose Enderly, head librarian at the university, will be presented with the keys. An open house at the library will follow the program.

The new annex, first building in Kentucky to be partially financed under the federal government's Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963, includes about 27,000 square feet of floor space throughout its three floors and basement. Construction began in October, 1965.

The addition will seat about 950 students and has 45 graduate study carrels which will be reserved for master's degree candidates during the semester they write their theses. It is fully carpeted and has central air-conditioning.

With the addition, MSU's library has shelving for about 200,000 volumes and is adequate for a study body of up to 8,000, according to Dr. Woods. At the beginning (Continued On Page Six)

To borrow a "by line" from the late AND great Hank Williams, "If the Good Lord's willin' and the creek don't rise" — it's barely possible we could get the dates of several club events . . . BEFORE they occur! You don't get far unless you try and if you do try, you could get "slapped down". Which ever way "she blows", here's trying.

The Burns "Coon Club" sponsors a Wild "Coon Hunt" the first Saturday night in each month. Their swim and drag races are held the third Sunday of each month.

Officers of the Burns club are: Thomas Lester, President; Roy Trambly, Vice-president; and Thomas R. Lester, Secretary and Treasurer.

The Hickman County "Coon Club" has been sadly neglected by us . . . for a dozen reasons. We are sincerely trying to be fair, but the truth is — up to now we aren't being fair with anyone. We are months behind with pictures, events, etc. One major problem (other than junior) is "too little information, too late". We don't know all the Hickman officers, we don't have the dates for special events. We're just "not with it" — period!

Some results from the April 8th Buddy Hunt of the Hickman club are: First place trophy to Hershel Bone and Lonnie O'Neal with 575+ points; Second place went to Joe Pat Jones and Leon Andrews (Twin Lakes) with 550+ points; Third place trophy winners were Howard Jackson and Don Kell with 475+ points. A large crowd was in attendance, with 36 dogs entered.

Twin Lakes Coonhunters Club will hold their monthly meetings on the 1st and 3rd Monday nights of May. The Night Hunt is scheduled for May 20th. The meeting will be Monday night, May 1st, and Monday night, May 15th. All members are urged to attend said meetings. Everyone is notified of the hunt (May 20th) with ample time to make the necessary arrangements to join us.

While we were in this section, we attempted to see Mrs. Kline, who also owns and operates Kline's Boat Dock. We shall meet her in the future, we hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Studin Jobs own and operate the famous Paradise Resort. To date we haven't found their location, but we're hoping to. Mrs. Jobs and little Sid, who isn't so little, are some of the nicest people we shall ever know. Haven't had the pleasure of meeting the Papa, big Sid. Mrs. Jobs, please stop by the Double F office when you're in town.

Mrs. Dora Mohundro, your granddaughter, Clara Jones, and the entire Ledger and Times family, send our best wishes for a speedy recovery.

We're sorry to make your "Little 'un Mo'" inreconcilable in the picture, but we know you are justifiably proud of him. We are. Good morning to papa, Mr. E. G. Mohundro.

The moon is between its full phase and its last quarter.

The morning star is Mars. The evening star is Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Born on this day in 1785, was pioneer American naturalist John Audubon.

On this day in history: The first British colonial settlement in America landed at Cape Henry, Va.

In 1905, federal troops killed John Wilkes Booth, the assassin of President Lincoln, near Port Royal, Va. He was killed despite orders to bring him in alive.

Racers Win Twin Bill 7-5 And 6-3

By GALE GARRISON

Murray State set their record at 8-0 for OVC play with a pair of wins over Western Kentucky at Bowling Green yesterday. They won the first game 7-5 and the nightcap 6-3.

Phil Hayden hit during the second game when a throw by the shortstop hit him in the eye as he was going to second base.

Bill Ryan and Mike Fitzgerald each picked up a pair of singles and were the only two batters to get more than one hit in the first game. But Bill Solomon's home run was the winning blow, as it brought in Mike Kistner, who was on base.

The Breds won the second game with a big fifth inning, but this time when Hayden suffered his injury, Tommy Toon opened the inning with a single. Solomon walked and Mike Ward singled to score Toon, and the runners advanced to second.

Hayden then reached first on an error, which agreed Solomon, on the next play Hayden was going to second on a grounder, and the shortstop, in an attempt to complete a double play threw the ball to Ward at first, but the ball struck Hayden in the eye.

Hayden is in the Bowling Green Hospital where he will remain for about three days before being transferred to the Paducah Hospital. It is believed that the injury will not impair Hayden's vision.

Jim Reid then singled and Bill Ryan followed with a three run home to end the scoring.

Murray is now 15-4 overall, and 8-0 in the OVC, and will travel to Middle Tennessee for a double header Saturday.

Construction Halted On Flood Canal

MIAMI, Fla. — Action initiated by the National Audubon Society has halted construction of a flood control canal that threatened Everglades National Park. The Society won an agreement for a re-study of the project.

It had been feared that the canal, now almost completed, would damage the park in two ways. It would allow salt water to flow into normally fresh areas of the Everglades, and would spill urgently needed fresh water into the sea, diverting it from park lands already suffering from the effects of ditching and draining policies in Florida.

The conservation organization filed suit here March 18 in United States District Court to halt the opening of the canal, known as canal C-43, until a sea gate was installed, or other provision made to keep the fresh water in and the salt water out.

The suit led to new talks between the conservationists and representatives of the U.S. Army and Southern Florida Flood Control District. The result was agreement by Flood Control authorities to delay opening of the canal indefinitely, pending further talks and study to develop a mutually acceptable plan to protect the park.

Both sides are hopeful that such a solution will be reached but if it is not, the matter can be resumed to the courts.

Hargan Makes Transition At Record Speed

By JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer

Steve Hargan has completed the transition from helping hand to do-it-yourself man sooner than most people expected.

The lanky right-hander began the 1966 season in the Cleveland bullpen. He moved into the starting rotation in June when Indian ace Sam McDowell injured his shoulder and finished the year as the Tribe's leading pitcher, posting a 13-10 record and compiling a 2.48 earned run average, third best in the American League.

This season Hargan is out-doing himself. The tall fastballer tossed his second shutout in a week Tuesday night as he scored the Minnesota Twins 1-0 to break a four game Indian losing streak. Cleveland's last victory was Hargan's 2-0 whitewash over Kansas City last Thursday.

The twin shutouts, added to a two inning relief stint opening day in which he was tagged with the loss without surrendering an earned run, leaves Hargan with a perfect 0.00 for 20 innings.

Lone Run
He singled to left to start the sixth inning and moved to third on Vic Davall's double. Max Alvis drove a long fly to the base of the left center field fence to allow Hargan to trot across with the lone run of the game.

Hargan has been lost in the shadows while the limelight fell on McDowell. He began to show his potential last season when he reeled off five straight victories between July 24 and Aug. 13 to boost his record to 9-6. Two of the victories were shutouts and the last two were four-hitters, 5-0 against the Boston Red Sox Aug. 9 and 2-1 against the New York Yankees Aug. 13.

Former Cleveland manager Birdie Tebbets was visibly impressed with the young pitcher.

"If Steve continues to improve the way he has this year," beamed Tebbets late last season, "there's no doubt he'll be the best right-hander in the American League."

Much of the credit for Hargan's rapid development goes to Early Wynn, the former Indian pitching great. Wynn took Hargan under his wing in mid-season, taught him a big league curve, refined his delivery and results began to show immediately.

Too High
"I had a tendency to let my arm lead my body in my delivery," explained Hargan. "It caused the ball to come in too high. It seemed to happen when I pressed and tried to get too much on my pitcher. I had to learn to hold back and follow through naturally."

After a full season under Wynn's tutelage, Hargan closed out the 1966 campaign in strong fashion, winning three of his last four decisions, two by complete games, and dropping a close 2-0 decision to the California Angels in his final start.

Hargan, pitching in 35 degree temperature in Cleveland Tuesday night, surrendered lone singles to Tony Oliva and Zoilo Versalles.

"The cold didn't bother me at all," confessed Hargan after the game. "In fact, I kind of liked it."

The rangy Rooder from Ft. Wayne, Ind., called his performance "the best game I've pitched. He laughed when reminded of his perfect ERA.

"I don't think about it. It's going to be a long season," he said. Elsewhere in the American League, Baltimore edged California 2-1, Detroit blanked Kansas City 5-0, New York routed Chicago 11-2 and Boston defeated Washington 9-3.

In the National League action, New York ripped Chicago 2-1, Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 7-3, St. Louis whitewashed Houston 4-0, Atlanta drubbed Los Angeles 7-1 and San Francisco defeated Cincinnati 6-1.

Angels Toppled
Frank Robinson drove in the first run with a sacrifice fly and scored the second after tripling as the Orioles knocked the Angels out of first place. Robinson's third inning fly scored pitcher Tom Phoebus from third and he scored the eventual winning run in the sixth when Brooks Robinson singled.

Joe Sperra picked up his first victory since last June 5 as the Tigers erupted for four runs in the first inning to beat Kansas City. Al Kaline, Jim Northrup and Norm Cash had run producing singles in the four run inning. Dick McAuliffe homered in the seventh for the Tigers' fifth run.

The league leading Yankees pounded out 17 hits and veteran southpaw Whitey Ford scattered eight hits in a romp over the White Sox. Charley Smith, with two doubles and a pair of singles, sparked the Yankee attack as Ford, who won only two games last season, notched his second victory this year.

Reggie Smith, Mike Andrews and Tony Conigliaro homered in the en-

Jackson Wants To Be Perfect

By GARY KALE
UPI Sports Writer

When Al Jackson is good, he is very, very good. Some day the slight right-hander expects to be perfect.

Jackson couldn't get past the seventh inning stretch in his bid for a no-hitter Tuesday night. He was touched for a single by Bob Aspromonte leading off the eighth inning and that's the only safety Ambitious Al allowed as the St. Louis Cardinals shut out the Boston Astros 4-0.

A one-hitter is nothing new to Jackson and neither is the Astros' penchant for destroying the southpaw's attempt to enter the Hall of Fame.

Back on June 22, 1962, Jackson, as a member of the New York Mets, gave up a first-inning single to Joey Amalfitano and then held Houston hitless the rest of the way.

Another historic effort by the 5-11, 165-pound Jackson occurred in Forbes Field on July 21, 1965 when he held Pittsburgh hitless for 7-1-3 innings, the longest a pitcher had ever gone on the Pirates' home ground without a hit. Willie Stargell broke it up with a sharp single.

Other Action
In other N. L. action, Pittsburgh ripped Philadelphia 7-3, Atlanta routed Los Angeles 7-1, San Francisco clipped Cincinnati 6-1 and New York edged Chicago 2-1 in 10 innings.

American League games saw Baltimore knock California out of first place 2-1, New York take the lead with an 11-3 bombing of Chicago, Detroit shut out Kansas City 5-0, Cleveland trip Minnesota 1-0 and Boston maul Washington 9-3.

Jackson let Houston to hit only five balls out of the infield. The pitch that Aspromonte tagged for the lone Astro hit was a high fast ball.

"If I had to do it again, I would have tried to throw the same pitch," Jackson said in defense of his choice of serve.

"I started worrying about them getting a hit as the game wore on," Jackson confessed. "I even wished somebody had said something about a no-hitter in the dugout just to break the tension."

Unwritten Law
Jackson's teammates, however, stuck to baseball's unwritten law of not mentioning a no-hitter for fear of putting the whammy on their pitcher.

Tim McCarver gave Jackson all the support he needed with a two-run homer in the second inning, the Cardinal catcher's second of the season.

"One thing I learned with the Mets," Jackson has said. "If you can keep the score down and get some runs of your own at the right time, you have a good chance to win."

McCarver provided the key blow at the right time for Jackson's second win in three decisions. Lou Brock drove in the other two runs as Chris Zachary lost his second straight game.

Pittsburgh benefited from Starrett's potent bat that produced a homer and drove in four runs. Billy O'Dell, a victim of Addison's disease last winter, hurled 5-1-3 innings of one-hit ball in relief to pick up the victory and break Philadelphia's three-game winning streak.

Bunning, a 19-game winner last year, lost his third game against one triumph. Clay Dalrymple homered for the Phils.

Dodger Misery
Rico Carty hit a three-run homer in the third inning that backed Ken Johnson's second win of the season and dropped Los Angeles into an eighth-place tie with San Francisco.

Jim Lefebvre compounded the Dodger misery with three errors in the fourth inning, tying a National League record for third basemen. Bob Bailey homered for Los Angeles after Atlanta blanked the Dodgers for seven innings.

High-kicking Juan Marichal, a 25-game winner last season, gained his first victory of the year following three losses when San Francisco staked him to a 2-0 lead in the first inning on Jim Ray Hart's two-run homer. Three more Giant runs in the sixth spelled the end for Cincinnati rookie right-hander Gary Nolan. Tony Perez averted a shut out with his third homer of the season.

ly innings to lift the Red Sox to their second straight victory over the Senators. Smith homered to open the game and Andrews connected for his first major league home run in the second with two on. Conigliaro, who had three hits in the game, cleared the fence in the third.

Germans Seek Law To Ban Illegitimate Tag

BONN, GERMANY—Illegitimate children finally will be accorded first class citizenship if Parliament approves the German government's proposal for reforming the penal code.

Even the description "unehelich" (illegitimate) which children find embarrassing will be eliminated in favor of "born outside wedlock," if Dr. Ludwig Jansen, the Justice Ministry official drafting the legislation, has his way.

For more than 80 years, German reformers have struggled without success to improve the legal status of illegitimate children. Jansen said.

Almost 50,000 children are born illegitimately in West Germany every year — 48 for every 1,000 live births — and government aid is granted about half a million illegitimate minor children living with their mothers.

Under existing law, these children are not related to their fathers, may not bear their father's name, and have no claim as one of his heirs.

Jansen's bill would change these restrictions and, as illustrated, child even would have inheritance rights second only to a man's legitimate offspring.

A father would be required to support his illegitimate child until it is 21 years old, rather than only until it is 18, and the amount of support would be measured according to the father's income and social status, not that of the mother.

Bus Driver Served For Past 37 Years

CAMDEN, Ark. — A. K. Smith has been taking kids for the past 37 years where many of them don't want to go — to school.

Recently, Smith says, children are a bit unrulier than when he began driving school buses in 1930. He admits he has a few more disciplinary problems now — perhaps because boys and girls are not as timid as they used to be.

"They talk more freely, seem to get in more heated discussions which lead to confusion if you should fail to nip it in the bud early," he says. "But thinking back over the years boys and girls have been about the same."

Smith's bus plies the main roads of the Palmyra School District in Ouachita County. He is the Arkansas School Bus Driver of the Year. His concern and reputation for safety may well have been an important reason for the honor.

"Safety is my motto," he says. "I think of each child who rides my bus as being my own and take every precaution."

Smith, who has an accident-free record, enjoys chauffeuring and gets along well with his passengers. A granddaughter and grandson have enabled him to stay in touch with the younger generation.

"Children help to keep a school bus driver young," he says.

But this won't cost me as much as you think, because I am going to all my "good friends" who never tipped me because they didn't want to "insult" me. So I won't "insult" them by offering them money either.

POLLY

DEAR ABBY: Waiters very often belong to a "pool" or "kitty," and must share their tips with other waiters, busboys, and sometimes captains, so they cannot rightfully refuse tips that do not belong to them entirely. That is why my husband who is a waiter is obliged to accept a tip from his own father!

WALTER'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: I am a waiter in one of the most famous resorts in the Catskills, so I can speak with some authority on whether to tip a friend who waits on you.

The friend who sits at your table is taking up the same amount of space and time as a stranger would, so I say he should leave a tip.

I might add that I have been a waiter for nearly 20 years and I saw only one waiter who was "insulted" when a friend of his left a tip. (This waiter went to the men's room and cried, so you know what kind of "man" he was.)

SEEN &amp; HEARD

 Nam, including the MIG air bases, the conflict will take on a different hue. The American method of fighting a war is to hit it with all you have. This idea of hitting just so hard and going no further is foreign to our thinking.

There is nothing good about a war and the quicker one is finished, the better, and the less chance there is for its spreading.

Jimmy Durante is credited with the following answer concerning the meaning of the first ten amendments to the United States Constitution: "Da Bill of Rights means dat da gov'mint shoold leave da people da hell alone."

After one of those late-night Crime Commission meetings in Washington, one of the attendees left the building and asked a passerby, "How far to the nearest bus stop?" The passerby answered, "I don't know. Nobody's ever made it."

With the Bloodmobile coming to Murray on May 11, the following story taken from the Home Builders Association of Northern Kentucky publication seems appropriate.

It was told by Perle L. Whitehead at a sales meeting of the Metropolitan Home Investment Council. The local Home Builders Association gave the story.

"Harry Starnes did his best to get into the service when World War II came on. But he was no near the upper-age limit that the induction center wouldn't have a thing to do with him.

"So Harry did the next best thing: He went to the blood bank regularly to give blood. And he ate a lot of liver so that he could go often. Naturally, he was very proud of himself.

"Then one day he arrived home, looked in the mail box, and found a letter notifying him that he had been accepted for service. He was surprised, but he 'accepted' Uncle Sam's 'invitation.'

"Harry finally wound up in the horrible landing at Tinian. During the landing, his right arm was almost shot away.

"And as he was lying there in the sand with his life-blood ebbing away, a medic rushed up, soaked a jug of blood plasma down beside him, and started to work on Harry's arm.

"Half-dazed, Harry looked over at the side of the jug. On it was written: The blood donated by Harry Starnes.

"He had saved his own life! Harry had learned that the little time... the little money he takes to share with one another from time to time has a way of coming back."

This is a true story and one which could happen over and over. The blood you give on May 11, could be very well the blood which could be returned to you in a time of need. Even if it were not your blood which is returned to you, someone else's blood could save your life. And that's the point.

If you have not given a pint of blood recently to the Bloodmobile, plan to give it on May 11, First Methodist Church, 9:00 to 3:00 p.m.

By the way thanks to all the young people for their assistance in getting up blood donors for the May 11 visit. This is a real and true service to the community.

The program was closed with class asking the audience to join in singing "My Old Kentucky Home" with Gary Potts as the piano accompanist.

Max Hurt, a member of the PTA, gave an inspiring devotion. He was also asked to give a report on the library petition and the progress in getting the signatures in order for the public library to continue operations after June 30 of this year. Mr. Hurt, a member of the library board, said if the required number of signatures are not obtained, the library building will be for rent as of July 1, 1967.

Selection to the society which was founded in 1920 nationally to recognize outstanding ability and achievement in high school, is based on character, scholarship, leadership and service. The Murray High chapter was organized in 1967.

Rev. Lloyd W. Ramey spoke on two ways young people as well as older people can make their life count. He emphasized working with God and staying near enough to God to hear Him.

Abraham representative Beverly Goode presided over the program and lighted the candles symbolic of the occasion. Approximately forty alumni returned for the announcement and they planned the newly elected members.

Three mother-daughters resulted at yesterday's program. Clara Waldrop Humphrey, a 1939 graduate, and her daughter, Ann Waldrop Grimes; Claire Penion Rose, a 1942 graduate and her daughter, Theresa Reski; Ralph Tensener, a 1943 graduate and his daughter, Susan Tensener.
